TigerWrite

What is TigerWrite?

TigerWrite is a free, online service offered by the QCC Center for Tutoring and Academic Support (CTAS). TigerWrite is open 24/7, 365 days a year.

It's one way that QCC students can get feedback and improve writing assignments for any class and beyond (essays, research papers, lab reports, application essays, resumes, etc.).

How does TigerWrite work?

Simply log in, fill out a short form, and send us your draft and your professor's directions. Then, a trained QCC writing tutor will provide feedback within 48 hours!

Logging in is easy: enter your name and student ID number on our TigerWrite login page (http://www3.qcc.cuny.edu/TigerWrite/twLogon.aspx), and on-screen directions will guide you the rest of the way.

What kind of help will the TigerWrite tutor provide?

Just like with our live tutoring sessions, TigerWrite tutors will respond to questions and concerns you share about your writing. Their written feedback will also point out differences they see between the writing directions and your paper.

Although tutors will not proofread or edit your work, they can help you identify and learn about important ways to improve the paper on your own.

Can I chat with my tutor using TigerWrite?

No. TigerWrite is asynchronous, which means you and the tutor are not online at the same time. Your written feedback will be ready to view on TigerWrite within 2 days.
